

Steps

Follow this simple steps to review a paper:

1. Read the title, abstract, and introduction;
2. Read the sub headings;
3. Read the conclusion;
4. Skim the references for familiar papers.

1 Paper Information

Authors:

Title:

Year:

2 First PASS (5 minutes):

Category: Computer networks.

Context:

Correctness:

Contributions:

Clarity:

3 Second PASS (1 hour):

3.1 What does it do?

Rationale:

Aims:

Hypothesis:

3.2 How does it do it?

Participants:

Method:.

3.3 What did it find?

Findings:.

Implications:

Falsifiable:

Limitations:

4 Third PASS (2+ hours):

4.1 Weaknesses

Implicit Assumptions:

Experimental & Analytical Errors:

Missing Citations:

4.2 Strengths

Presentation Technique:

Support for conclusion:

Internal efficacy:

5 References

Keshav, S. (2007). How to read a paper. ACM CCR, 37(3), 83 - 84.

Literature Review Matrix designed by David R. Berg.

Literature Review Editable designed by Brivaldo Junior.